At least four horse shows are holding a Riding For Reading Class this year. Riding For Reading is a non-profit (501 (c)3) organization dedicated to promoting reading, literacy, and education through equestrian sports and activities.

The Riding For Reading Class is our flagship activity, and young equestrians from first grade through twelfth grade compete on behalf of their schools. Based on how they place in the competition, their school receives a donation to use for library materials.

The Golden Gate Classic (Woodside, CA) will hold the first Riding For Reading Class on July 4, 2008. The Country Classic in Oregon will host their class on July 11.

The Riding For Reading Benefit Show (Los Angeles, CA) not only hosts a Riding For Reading Class, but serves as a fundraiser for the organization. For the past two years, at least 50 riders have participated in the class. This year's event will be September 1, 2008.

More than 450,000 students from 1st through 12th grades have benefitted from the school library grants provided by Riding For Reading.

Show organizers wishing to host a Riding For Reading Class, and anyone interested in sponsorship is encouraged to contact Riding For Reading at:
